

Postdoctoral Duties

My major duties are to produce at least three peer reviewed publications from my Ph.D. research, to help write grants that will continue to fund all of the work of the Small Fruits and Vegetable IPM Laboratory, and to assist with a project involving examining the host preference of silver leaf whiteflies. My other duties include assisting with other projects including the monitoring and management of twospotted spider mites on strawberry and stink bugs in blackberries. I will also be helping to maintain the laboratory's greenhouse and field plots of blackberries, blueberries, and grapes.
